The Real Me

A lady is preparing to leave home in the morning to go to work. Her job is an important one, she is in the public eye, and her appearance is something to which she must pay special attention.

She goes through her regular morning routine with great attention, and before going out the door she checks her appearance in the mirror one last time. She is satisfied with what she sees, as she remarks, 'Now I'm ready to face the new day.'

Just then she was very conscious of a tiny inner voice that said, 'Your outer person is ready, but what about your inner person? You've had breakfast for your body, but have you nourished your soul and your spirit? Just how ready is the real you to face this new day?

How much resentment, unforgiveness, guilt do you bring with you into your day - something that may well spill over on to those around you as the day goes

How you find the people you deal with today, will be greatly influenced by what's going on within you as you leave home for work in the morning.

Talk or Action

In My Fair Lady, Eliza is fed up with Freddy's letters, and his daily protestations of his love for her.

His letters arrived everyday, and his whole conversation was about how much he loved her.

In the total frustration, she sings the song, 'Show Me'. In the song she says she's sick of words, of talk, of a love like the stars, etc. 'If there's any love burning in your heart', she sings, 'show me'.

Love is not love until it is put into action. Faith without good works is dead' (Jas 2:26).

What you do can speak so loudly that people won't hear what you say.

Humour Corner

Set It Free

If you love something, set it free.

If it comes back, it will always be yours.

If it doesn't come back, it was never yours to begin with.

But, if it just sits in your living room, messes up your stuff, eats your food, uses your telephone, takes your money, and doesn't appear to realize that you had set if free ...

you either married it or gave birth to it!
